

@NisthaTripathi

Nistha Tripathi

92% of employers
are impressed when candidates ask
intelligent questions
during a job
interview

Here's how to kill at asking questions

@NisthaTripathi

Nistha Tripathi

Every interviewer will ask,
"Do you have any questions?"

Never waste this opportunity
Ask 3 kind of questions:

@NisthaTripathi

Nistha Tripathi

1-Study recent news, earnings reports & events related to the company.

Show you have done your homework & make your question memorable

@NisthaTripathi

Nistha Tripathi

For example: "One of the things that attracted me to Goldman Sachs was your high revenue/employee ratio. It is way high than other banks on Wall Street.

How do you manage that?
What are some key practices you have to keep the productivity so high?"

@NisthaTripathi

Nistha Tripathi

2-Ask about company culture and what a typical day looks like

This one question can reveal more about the internal working of the team:
“How did this position open up?”

@NisthaTripathi

Nistha Tripathi

Another example: “What is the average tenure of employees at my level in your team?”

@NisthaTripathi

Nistha Tripathi

3-Ask about the opportunities you will get to grow

It shows that you are ambitious and thinking long term

@NisthaTripathi

Nistha Tripathi

“What kind of career path can be expected from this role over the next 5 years?”

“What skills would you say are the most crucial ones to succeed in this role?”

@NisthaTripathi

Nistha Tripathi

Pro Tip:

Don't ask about salary or benefits unless the interviewer brings it up first. Focus on learning more about the job and the company.

Created for SCHOLAR STRATEGY

Follow for daily actionable career tips and strategies

Was it helpful?
Let me know in the comments

